

Looking for an opportunity to advance women's health?

You may be eligible to participate if you are:

- 18 - 50 years old
- willing to have blood collected
- currently using a Nexplanon or the Nuvaring

This research study involves the collection of blood that will be used to see what factors may affect the lab results for contraceptive hormone levels.

This study does not involve the use of any medication.

Women who participate will be compensated for the samples that are collected.
